Claims Status

Claims 1-7 are presented for examination.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-4, drawn to a method for recovering platinum group elements comprising charging a platinum group element containing material along with copper oxide and optionally a reducing agent (claim 4) into an electric arc furnace and melting below a slag layer.

Group II, claim(s) 5-7, drawn to an apparatus comprising a furnace, material charging port and body, fluid discharge ports and electrodes where the charged material comprises at least one of a platinum group element, copper oxide, solid reducing agent and flux.

Groups I and II have in common charging and melting at least one of a platinum group element containing material along with copper oxide and optionally a reducing agent in a furnace. This feature is known in the prior art as evidenced by Ward (U.S. Pat. No. 4,870,655). Ward a method for recovering precious metals including platinum, palladium and rhodium (i.e. platinum group metals) from catalysts in a furnace (col. 1 lines 11-20) where the furnace is an electric arc furnace with floating slag phase (col. 2 lines 48-59) and coke (i.e. a solid reducing agent) is optionally charged (col. 6 lines 41-68).

The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2 they lack the same or corresponding special technical feature, since the features that the independent claims have in common is known in the art. Groups I and II are therefore not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Kathleen A. McNelis whose telephone number is 571 272 3554. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F 8:00 AM to 4:30 PM.
